

MULTICULTURAL BREAST CANCER EDUCATION PROGRAM

April 2011 Issue

Communities United is pleased to offer the Multicultural Breast Cancer Education Program dedicated to promoting basic knowledge and awareness of breast cancer among the multicultural women of Utah. We are committed to providing FREE workshops as well as resources on reducing the risk of breast cancer, and we are able to support individuals who have been diagnosed with breast cancer by offering case management and referrals to Breast Cancer services.

If you are interested in collaborating, partnering, or would like information about our program, or in need of a free workshop, please contact the Program Coordinator, Masha Boguslavsky, Phone: 801-487-4143; Email: masha@cuutah.org

March event highlight: Multicultural Women's Breast Health Conference

This one-of-a-kind free community event took place on March 26th, 2011. We were able to educate and inform over 100 multicultural women participants about the risks and dangers of Breast Cancer, and the importance of early detection and prevention. Childcare services and interpretation in Arabic, Nepali, Somali, Swahili, Karen, and Spanish were provided. Attendees also received a resource list of low cost and free breast cancer services, as well as extra information from the Huntsman Cancer Institute and Intermountain Cancer Services. Everyone enjoyed breakfast, lunch, and gifts.

Special thank you goes to the planning committee members, interpreters, guest speakers, and everyone who volunteered their time to help us put together this successful event!

FREE COMMUNITY CANCER SCREENINGS: (To sign up for a screening please call 801-507-3800)

MAY 5 - North Temple Clinic, 5:30 -7:30 p.m

AUGUST 18 - The Neighborhood Clinic at the Sorensen Multicultural Center, 5:30-7:30 p.m

NOVEMBER 3 - Lincoln Elementary Clinic, 5:30-7:30 p.m

Empowering and Educating refugee and immigrant women about the fight against Breast Cancer!

